

Bug Report - Stats taken by Product name instead of ID

Posted by Manuux - 22 Nov 2013 12:19

Hello

The problem happens if you change the name of a product.

The system takes it as a different product therefore you will have stats for 2 different products when is the same one actually just with the name changed.

I think the product ID should be the one read for stats instead of the product name.

Regards

Hello Manuux,

Yes, I agree with you. The product name could change for any reason (marketing or whatever) but as long as the product ID remains the same we could interpret that the product is the same.

We'll review the code to adjust it where needed.

Thanks for your feedback.
