

Bug Report - Multilingual websites - product names

Posted by Manuxx - 24 Nov 2013 18:26

Hi

Thanks for reply to the other bug mentioned, sorry for creating a new topic since I believe the solution is the same.

Just to let you know another issue related by the system reading product names instead of product ID.

Our website is multilingual, 4 languages.

The main language is spanish and then we have catalan too.(english and french also)

This screenshot of stats exported to excel shows the problem:

The highlited products are the same (same productID) but they have different names (the customers bought in spanish and catalan) therefore is taken as a different product.

Regards

Oops forgot to mention that the main language that IMO sales analytic should show for the product names is the language chosen for VM2.

Regards

Yes Manuux, the issue seems to be the same.

We'll work it out this same week, ok?

Kind regards.
